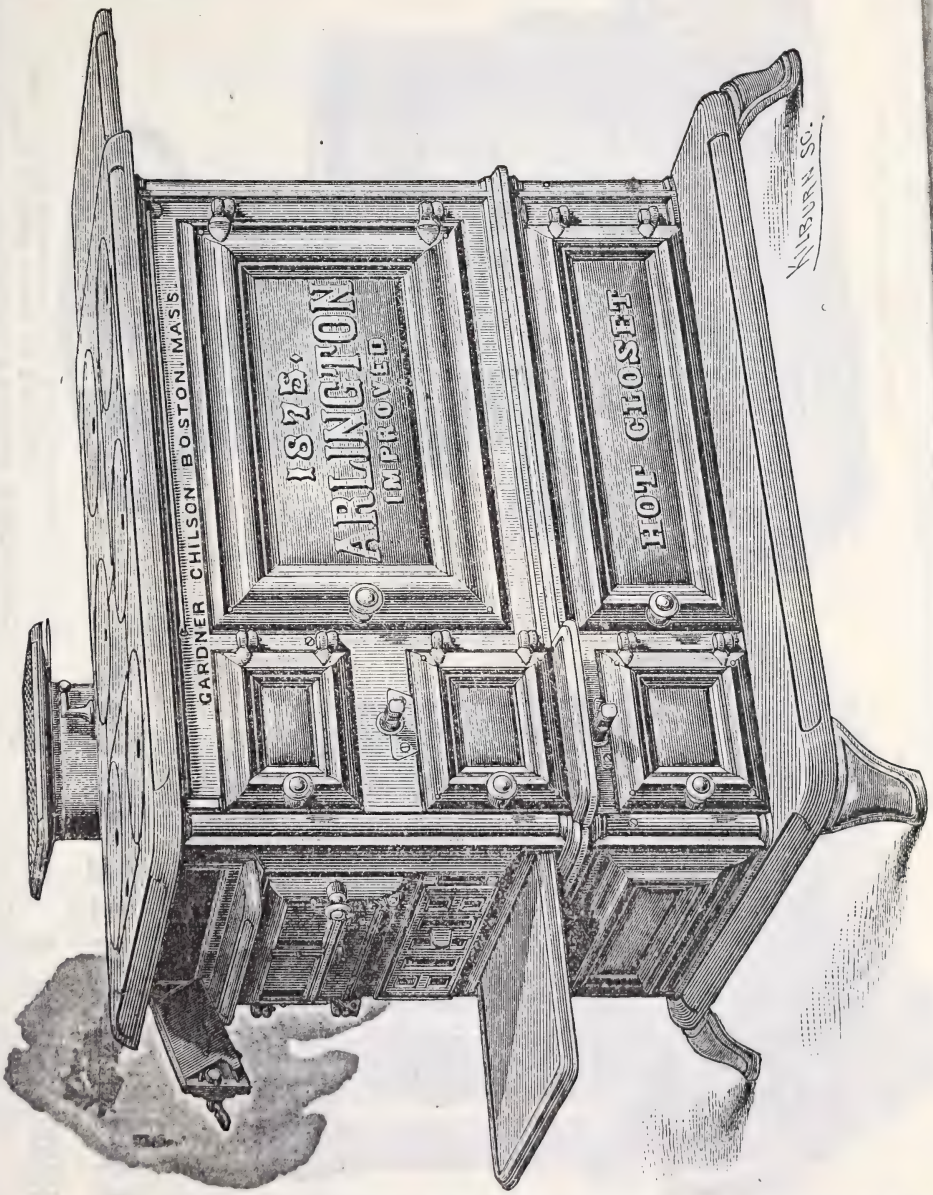
I desire to call special attention of every housekeeper in want, or whoever expects to want a STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS RANGE, to the great improvement over my old pattern Range, in broiling, heating water, anti-clinker grate, nickel-plated trimmings, towel dryer, four extra shelves, and extra heavy, fine, smooth castings, of rich and beautiful design, no place for dirt or grease to lodge to keep women scrubbing, but always a clean surface. This beautiful range has no equal in this country. This will be proved on examination and trial.



I also desire to call the attention of gentlemen, in want of the most substantial and beautiful range for brick setting, ever put up in any kitchen, to my ARLINGTON BRICK RANGE, which is acknowledged by all to be the most splendid piece of work, for a range, ever got up. Also the Chilson Brick Set Range that has acquired such a high reputation in the use of over ten thousand ranges in giving the most perfect satisfaction. PERFECT! BEAUTIFUL! CHEAP!

HELIOTYPE ENGRAVINGS.

The Heliotype process reproduces Engravings with faultless accuracy, and with a delicacy which frequently secures a more pleasing effect than the original engraving itself. These Heliotypes are not cheap or imperfect imitations, but absolutely exact facsimilies; and, being printed in ink, they are permanent.

The Heliotypes now offered to the public include the best works of the old masters, from the celebrated "Gray Collection" at Harvard University, and a large number of the finest and most artistic of the works of modern artists.

The Gray Collection is one of the most complete in the country, containing upwards of 6000 Engravings. About 500 of the best of these have been reproduced in Heliotype.

Among the artists represented in this collection of Engravings and of Heliotypes are the following: —

THE COMPILER'S INTRODUCTION.

I submit these thoughts to you, my generous patrons and the public, where my Directory is used, with a good and high motive; first to show the usefulness of the book, and secondly, to commend my course to your favorable regard.

Nearly all the people, are engaged in some business that requires a particular knowledge of each others names, partnership styles, location, residences, professions, articles of traffic, &c. Every citizen is liable to be wanted by the government, and each looks to the government for protection. Hence, every one's name, and whereabouts must be known, and such knowledge should be in a convenient form for instant reference. This shows the need of a Directory. But, aside from this, who will say that our civilization is not enhanced by such publications? Do they not furnish the best possible pictures of the state of business and the prosperity of our times? How grand a discovery would be that of a Directory of Rome in the days of the Cæsars, or of Pompeii, at the time of its fall? Nothing could equal its importance to the historian.

Some people, unused to town Directories, try to argue that such books are unnecessary; they wish to know the people of cities, but they don't wish the city people to know them.

I cannot see why the city Directory, composed, as it is, in great part, of the names of laborers, is more important than a Directory of the farmers and manufacturers of our rural districts. Some persons, amply able, are too parsimonious to subscribe for such a book. One man excused himself by saying he had two books in his house already. Surely "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

The excellent town clerk of Beverly, told me that thousands of people consulted the one copy of my last Directory of that town, which he kept in his office.

Some towns even make appropriations out of the public funds in aid of Directories, as well as for historical publications, as provided for by statute law.

I should do wrong and act in a cowardly manner, if I failed here to give some of my observations in respect to the reasons why certain great houses do not patronize local Directories.

I know a good deal about this business, having been engaged in it since 1857, and having canvassed all the New England States, New York, New Jersey and Virginia. Great firms often set up a dirty business in a town, which renders the locality unhealthy and disagreeable. Of course they do not feel any deep regard for the interests of the town, and are apt to find fault with their tax officers. Other great houses, living themselves in the cities, hunt up places in the country where labor is cheap, and water power, or room, or situation affords facilities, and there coin their millions to spend in Europe or other congenial climes. Of course, when called upon to patronize the local Directory, they turn up their noses at such an affair. What do they care about that town ? They "only have their factories there." Others will tell me they "only go there to sleep nights," and "the place costs them too much already." One man told me once in a certain city, that he "only had his factory there; he cared nothing for the town." Imagine my surprise, when two years afterwards, he was elected Mayor.

But this is but one side of the picture. Most people welcome the Directory as a benefaction. I remember, when I collected orders in Brookline and Jamaica Plain, for the first Directory there, the business men vied with each other in patronizing my book. They signed the advertisement blanks impulsively, voraciously. All I had to do was to ask where each one would have his advertisement printed in the book. Twenty-eight firms gave a page each, and sometimes didn't even inquire the price before signing. I suppose it is well understood, that I always insert the names in the general Directory, as a gratuity. This is my offering to the people, and I trust it is beneficial to every one. The advertisements and subscriptions, are my only remuneration and reward; for truly there don't seem to come honor or fame from the successful labor of the Directory publisher. However, no one perhaps ever received more praise, or higher, than the writer.

Of my Directory of Boston, which I published annually for many years, till the great fire of 1872 destroyed my printing and publishing establishment at 8 Congress Square, the Boston Evening Transcript said: "As a business Directory, this work appears to be more thorough and full than any previous publication of the same class."

The Boston Courier said: "It is the most complete work of the kind yet published."

The World said: "The volume compiled by Dean Dudley, whose name is a sufficient guarantee for its correctness, contains the names of all business men in the city of Boston; each branch of business arranged alphabetically, under appropriate heads, with a complete index referring to every name. It contains, also, a handsome and accurate map of Boston."

This Directory was thought worthy of being stolen by a rival publisher. And when, good, easy fellow, he had got his book printed, I went into the United States Court and convicted him o piracy, obtaining heavy damages therefor; doing all this law business myself, without any other counsel. The same pirate subsequently tried to steal my Cambridge City Directory, and obtained many orders by carrying my book around, as if he had a right to do it, or was the regular publisher. As soon as this fact came to my knowledge, I sent to the advertisers in Cambridge, and seventy of them revoked their orders, sending an autograph note to the pirate, forbidding him to act upon their order at his peril. Such was the estimation in which my Directory was held by the people of the University City. When my health failed, and my office was destroyed, I sold my right to the Cambridge Directory for twelve hundred dollars, although a few years previous I had taken the book from the editor of the local newspaper, as a gift, he telling me, that he had lost several hundred dollars by the last issue. This local editor was a very generous, upright, honorable gentleman who did as well in his line as most editors do. Their business being to talk, scribble, and comment on works and things they could not do themselves, often they have no just conception of matters by them criticised and damned.

The local newspaper publisher of one town, out of spite, avarice and mean rivalry, has done his utmost to injure this Directory. In order to deter others from giving advertising patronage to this book, lest it might diminish his own profits in his village, he has lied and slandered my Directories in a rough and inhospitable manner. All this I fain would ignore. I am too busy to stop to fight. But my friends and patrons deserve a fair explanation from the author.

My rival publisher heads his column of abuse with the words: "A Good (?) Directory." This heading is inserted like a cut, to attract notice from every one. Even if the editorial should be slighted, as he seemed to fear it would be, the ingenious heading would show his opposition to the Directory. My original conception and invention of the Directory of these four towns in one book, he could not help endorsing as a good idea; in fact he was forced to say it was the one thing needful. Probably he thought to conciliate here and there a subscriber among my friends, by stating this self evident fact at the top of his article. But the next assertion is that he and his folks (he says "we") have not had such a book for several years, although such a thing is so "much needed." Now I would agree that it had been two years since such a book had been published, but no longer. Then he hints that this author is not enterprising. How does it happen that this directory maker was the first to come and inaugurate such a work, unless he was more enterprising than others? He has inaugurated many other similar works, and published over a hundred, printing most of them in his own office, when no other Massachusetts publisher of Directories exclusively, had a printing establishment. His style in the next sentence is worthy of notice: "It is true that Mr. Dean Dudley has given us" &c. "Mr. Dean Dudley!" Why does he call me "Mr." when he is about to flay me? Is it a cabalistic word with his clan? Most everybody calls me "Esquire," apparently because I have been so long a lawyer and justice of the peace. "Mr. Dean Dudley, has given us two or three editions of a book, which he tells us is a Directory (?) And yet he, even has doubts about the people accepting it as such, and so in his preface of the book he issued in 1873, says: 'This Directory has been COMPILED and printed under adverse circumstances.' Now that remark was wholly uncalled for; there is not a patron who took his book at that time, but what became forcibly aware of that fact, but what those adverse circumstances were, no doubt those, who bought his book at that time have a different opinion than what he intended to convey." Such are the language, grammar, rhetoric and logic of this wizard scribbler. It is a most dastardly attempt to misrepresent and belie me and my book. My words in that preface to which he refers, are as follows: "This Directory has been compiled and printed under adverse circumstances, as my printing office was totally destroyed by the great conflagration, when this book was nearly printed. Even the copy was burnt, so that some of the towns had to be re-canvassed. Still there is no delay in the publication, as the work was promised only for the first part of 1873." Now I beg the reader to notice the remark about those adverse circumstances. The critic evidently wishes to cast a stigma upon my book, because so terrible a calamity had befallen me; and he withholds the explanation, so that my reference to "adverse circumstances" might be wrongly interpreted. I found much trouble in canvassing the second time, as we had to explain how it happened that the first canvass was not sufficient. Then in printing the advertisements I could not find the right engravings, those ordered having all been destroyed. Some I had taken to use, being lost, the owners required me to have them engraved again at my own expense. But in the next sentences of this base misrepresentation and perversion of facts, the Wizard goes on to say that his only reason for finding fault was that the Directory of '75, was not prepared in the same manner as that of '73, when I had promised it in the preface. This man does not know how directories are prepared. He shows no insight whatever into the process of compiling such works. I sent men to every house in his town, and to every office and shop, for information, which is my invariable way. But for some of the towns I printed tax lists. Those towns were greatly benefited by this, and the interest manifested in those lists, was conspicuous everywhere. Not a single name was omitted from the lists. The small town where I reside, appropriated $450, to print the tax list for last year. If those towns had desired a different directory, and subscribed for such, they would have got it. The matter of making a Directory for a town depends upon its citizens. They must subscribe, or no amount of criticism will produce the book. This language occurs in one part of the Wizzard's article: "again, as the balance of that part pertaining to Danvers, he takes the tax list, and only enters those as residents of Danvers who pay more than two dollars tax." Here is absolute falshood, as well as bad grammar. All the residents of Danvers were entered, who paid any tax whatever, and this fact is perfectly plain. How does the fellow excuse himself for such false statements? In some parts of his lively editorial, he seems to be writing for Danvers, and in others for Peabody. Indeed he put up each heading over the same sheet, in order to make two newspapers out of one. However, he has discontinued that trick since the reform clubs began to be effective. When he speaks of my "coming to us," does he mean Danvers? I think not; for, in canvassing that town, we did'nt find anybody that had heard of his attack on the Directory, and I doubt if many of the people ever heard of this scion of ancient renown and cowardice. There was certainly something very unmanly in his attack. I not only had no means of answering his false charges, till it was too late, but I am so unwell, as any one can see, coughing about the streets, and trying to promote the interests of my Directory by my personal efforts in these hard times. He might, with just as much propriety, attack a leather manufacturer, or any other business man. I am informed that he assailed and abused that magnanimous man, Charles Sumner, in a two column article, which appeared in his valuable Press the very day on which Sumner died. Those who get his praise, I suppose, have to pay for it.

In the same number of his paper that contains the tirade against my book, there is an original article on the scarcity of money, in which the editor says: "We would advise our people to use Boschee's German Syrup. It has never failed. One bottle will keep your whole family well during the winter."

Some one asked him how he came to attack my Directory. "Why," said he, "you see, the publisher had my order for fifteen dollars due him, and payable in advertising. Well, he would'nt advertise his Directory, as I expected, but sold the order to a Salem man, who advertised his goods, and so I did'nt get the cash out of that Salem brother."

"So you attacked him out of spite," replied the inquirer.

Such is the attack, and such the man.

A learned gentleman, born in Peabody, and a resident there for fifty years, wrote me upon seeing the false charges, that he had never heard a word spoken against my Directory, and it was a base and groundless slander. This letter I have saved. The following certificate will also show how utterly devoid of truth, are the Wizzard's assertions.

PEABODY, NOV. 18, 1876.

This may certify, that we the undersigned, citizens of Peabody, having used the Directories of this town published by Mr. Dudley, containing the names, residences, business, &c. of the citizens, are of the opinion that a new edition is necessary, and we cheerfully commend the enterprize to the favorable consideration of our people. We think this a very useful and creditable book, and bespeak for it, the patronage of all. It will be a great convenience to the town officers, and everybody, in their intercourse with each other in this locality.

Finally, I will quit this mean and disagreeable subject by stating, that however much I might wish to prosecute the slanderer, there is a notion among his acquaintances, that it is useless to sue a beggar. Where I can obtain justice by aid of a suit, I generally take advantage of the courts, for it is in my line. I have sued many, but have learned better than to chase phantoms or wizzards. In speaking of my publications it might be well to add, that my list has included the regular Directories of Cambridge, New Bedford, Dorchester, Quincy, Weymouth, Somerville, Arlington, Brookline, West Roxbury, Boston (Business and Co-partnership Directory), Bristol County, Plymouth County, Barnstable County, Hyde Park, Dedham, Wakefield, Stoneham, Peabody, Beverly, Danvers, Marblehead, Mass.; Concord, Portsmouth, Nashua, Dover, Great Falls (Somersworth), Exeter, New Market, N. H.; and Richmond, Va. The county directories, and several of the town directories, have contained valuable histories. See reviews of them in the New England Historical Register, the Boston Transcript, and other literary journals. In the mean time, I have been employed by the city of Boston, eleven years, to compile the annual census of children between 5 and 15 years of age. Nearly every one of my publications may be found in the library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, 18 Summer street, Boston. Quite a number are at the Essex Institute, Salem, and many have been sent to historical societies in other States of our Union, of which I am an honorary and corresponding member. Some may be found at the General Theological Library, Boston, of which institution I am a life member. A good number were sent to the great Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia.

These directories are much prized by antiquaries and genealogists.

To some it might seem strange that thieves will steal them; but such is the case. The rascals go about among business offices, making observations, and when they find the occupants out, take away their books, which often consist mostly of directories.

REWARD OFFERED!

I have had many stolen. In January 1876, my leather valise with hundreds of notes, letters, receipts and a few books, was taken from my desk at 31 Exchange street, Boston. It contained also, a manuscript history, ready to be printed. About fifty engravings had been prepared for it, and many subscribers are probably wondering why the book is not published. My name was printed on nearly every paper in the collection. One of the books was the life of Rev. Nath'l Ward, by J. W. Dean, A. M. If any one will return this lot of papers and books, or the manuscript only, he shall be well rewarded. I will not prosecute him or any one for the act of taking, as I do not know positively, how the valise was conveyed away, although I suppose it was stolen. It was advertised at the time, in several Boston newspapers, and a small reward was offered for it. The police tried hard to find it.

My time is much occupied with many cares, kind patrons, or you might, otherwise, expect more words of thanks and praise for your generous aid. May the public reward you with such favors as you deserve. I will continue to produce new editions of this work, in coming years.

Farewell,

DEAN DUDLEY.

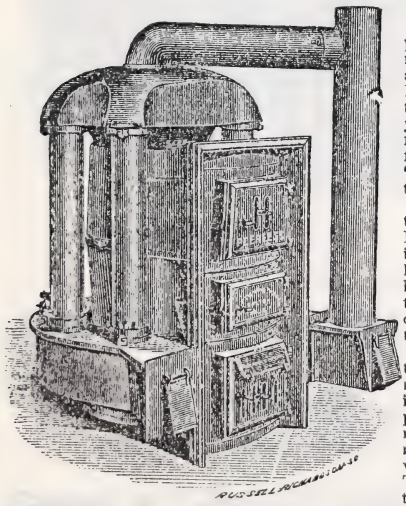
"PEERLESS" FURNACE.



We would call the attention of the public to the new "Peerless" Furnace, which contains more valuable and meritorious points than any other Furnace in the market. It has been thoroughly tested for the last five years, and has given universal satisfaction. For durability, economy of fuel, and ease of management, the "PEERLESS" surpasses any other in the market.

There are a few important points to be considered in the selection of a Furnace, viz.: durability, simplicity in construction and management; least liability to get out of order; least expensive to repair; possessing the largest radiating surface in a compact form and near proximity to the fuel, and will not leak gas.

After thirty years in the business, the subscribers claim to have a Furnace of superior merit. The prevailing error among manufacturers and purchasers, is to get a cheap Furnace; and competition has filled the market with those of a light material, which will but last for a short time. The "Peerless" Furnace has advantages over all others, possessing double the radiating surface of all other kinds; its adaption to low cellars; and its construction of cast iron, exclusively. The several parts are of uniform construction, and are connected in such a manner that the expansion and contraction cannot, in the least, strain the iron or joints, to cause the leakage of gas. The upper section of the fire-pot is not enlarged at the top, as in most Furnaces, but is made smaller, thereby preventing a collection of soot or ashes, and giving direct heat from the fire. Any surface placed at a high point in the air chamber, tends to diminish rather than increase heat, especially when the smoke flue is connected at the top of the Furnace, as the iron cannot receive or impart the heat to the hot air of the chamber [at the same height], only so far as the smoke or gases excel in temperature of heat that in the air chamber, the remainder passing off to the chimney. The whole principle is reversed in this Furnace, the upper extremity receiving the greater heat, thereby imparting additional intensity to the ascending hot air, while those portions of iron least heated are suspended at a low position, coming in contact with the cold air. This position is the most perfect for radiation, as the cold air takes the heat from the iron. There is no strain of iron or joints by expansion or contraction of the extensive exterior surface, which is suspended from the dome in such a manner as to rise and fall as the heat of the iron varies, thus leaving the joints intact.

The grate is simple, and is easily moved or dumped. The cold air passes under the Furnace, taking up all heat radiated from the base and pit. The number of the Furnace denotes the size of the grate.

SALEM GAZETTE, and ESSEX COUNTY MERCURY,

In the Best Style and on favorable terms,

By FOOTE & HORTON,

Hale's Building, 223 ESSEX STREET,

THE SALEM GAZETTE,

[ESTABLISHED 1768.]

Is Published on Tuesday and Friday Mornings.

The large country circulation of the Gazette (including the Mercury, in which all new advertisements of the Gazette are published), renders it particularly valuable as a medium for the publication of probate advertisements, sales of real estate, farm products, and other notices of interest to the farming population. Every new advertisement, with its insertion in the weekly edition, is placed before between three and four thousand subscribers in Salem and the neighboring towns. It is our design to make so full a record of general as well as of local news, that a person reading no other paper shall be kept posted in both general and local news. The subscription price, when paid in advance, is $3.50 per year, or $4.00, payable semi-annually.

THE ESSEX COUNTY MERCURY.

OR, WEEKLY SALEM GAZETTE,

[ESTABLISHED, A. D. 1832.]

Is made up from the reading matter of "The Salem Gazette", and is one of the cheapest and most popular papers in New England. The subscription price is $2.00 a year when paid in advance. The quantity of reading afforded is much greater than is usually found in a newspaper; and, as it circulates extensively in all parts of the County of Essex, particular pains are taken to present all the the local matters of the County. "The Mercury" is published every Wednesday morning. The subscription price, when not paid actually in advance, is $2.50 per year. For strictly advance payment we deduct 50 cents, leaving the price $2.00 per year.

John Leary, the Blind Beggar Boy of Boston.

ONE of the greatest virtues, and that which gilds the character of man with an imperishable and lustrous halo, is benevolence.

He who spake as man never spake said, "The poor ye always have with you;" and we need no better commentary on the veracity of those prophetic words, than the continual and energetic appeals to the sympathies of our nature, from the numberless suffering poor, who meet you at almost every turn.

"Pity the sorrows of a poor old man Invites our aid as sorrows ever can."

That beautiful sentiment, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," has been acceded to, and endorsed by hundreds upon hundreds; and the selfishness of our humanity has been robbed of its bitterness, and the impassioned poesy of kindness and tenderness superseded its rule by the unbridled cultivation of this praiseworthy and soul-stirring virtue.

In the annals of history, the names of human benefactors and philanthropists fill an important and imposing niche. Memory loves to linger around them, and festoon garlands of fame to enwreath and commemorate their acts of love and mercy.

The millionnaire and the peasant stand side by side in the work of benevolence, and the "cup of cold water" administered by either, "shall not lose its reward."

These few prefatory remarks have been awakened by an extraordinary act of benevolence and sympathy, manifested and carried into completion by our much esteemed and highly respected fellow-citizen, Doctor E. F. Whitman, a narrative of which is substantially as follows:—

John Leary, aged nine years, the subject of the following remarks, was born in the city of Boston. When John was a year old, the "destroying angel" entered their humble abode, and tore from the embrace of the confiding wife, the only being on whose sympathy and protection she could rely, and the husband and father was borne to the silent tomb, leaving the sole care of the family to the widow, who has struggled on with her charge, through poverty and privation, and all the varied vicissitudes of life, up to the present date.

At the age of three years, John was attacked by measles, a disease remarkable as one whose peculiar characteristic is, that it sometimes leaves its victim in a very debilitated and enfeebled condition; and often years elapse before a complete restoration of health is thoroughly effected. In the case under consideration, the poor sufferer was left completely blind. For three years he was under treatment at the State Infirmary, an institution of extraordinary renown, but failing to get relief was pronounced incurable and hopelessly blind.

He was then placed under the care of several most eminent private practitioners and oculists, all of whom, after exhausting their skill and patience, returned a verdict of hopelessly blind and incurable, and the case was dismissed, and the boy sent home, a burthen to himself and a source of grief to his sorrowing and distressed parent.

From this date, John is familiarly known as "the Blind Beggar Boy;" and scarcely a house in Boston and vicinity but whose portals have been darkened, and whose halls been made to echo to the mournful tones of the poor boy, as he solicited aid for a poor blind boy whose father is dead, and whose mother is in want.

We have often seen him as led along by the friendly hand of his sister; and our heart melted into pity, at the great affliction which an inscrutable providence had seen fit to measure out to this son of sorrow.

On one occasion, while walking about alone, and, as it seemed, bereft of all aid, he wandered into a store for the purpose of asking alms; and the scuttle being open the unfortunate boy fell through, and by breaking a leg and so badly injured otherwise that he had to remain for eight weeks in the hospital, whence he was taken, before he was sufficiently recovered to resume his usual occupation.

It chanced that in his rambling visitation he called on Doctor Whitman, repeating the customary salutation, "a few pennies to buy bread: my father is dead, my mother is poor, with three children in the family, and I am blind."

Touched by the appeal, the doctor examined the eyes of the poor boy and ascertained that he (the boy) could discern a dark object between him and the light, and at once took him under treatment, and (according to the deposition of the boy, which, ocular demonstration verifies and confirms) in two weeks he so far recovered his sight as to visit the office alone. After nine months' treatment he was able to see quite well, even at a distance. John is now learning to read.

Such is substantially and truly a correct statement of undeniable and stubborn facts, and the whole proceedings are as remarkable as they are interesting and satisfactory. But the question arises — how is it that Doctor Whitman was successful with a case which baffled the skill of so many eminent physicians? In reply we would say, that, added to practical skill and genius, the entire sympathies of the Doctor became enlisted in this peculiar case; and bringing to bear all the energy and knowledge of the profession at his command, he has consummated that which, in the parlance of Scripture phraseology, we now "hear and see."

In the estimation of men, human genius rises to her zenith of perfection, when, in the magnanimity of her movements, she has achieved a conquest over the imperfections and deficiencies of nature. Science, aided by the electricity of thought and action, unfolds to the perceptive faculties numberless and beautiful arrangements, whereby social life is wonderfully benefited, and many of our domestic and constitutional defects ameliorated and rounded to the insignificance of a point. In the variety of sufferings, the oculists holds a position of noble and lofty eminence.

The surroundings of worldly grandeur, and all the varied paraphernalia of gilded luxury lose their charms when the demon of torturing and withering malady paralyzes and distorts the system with its unfriendly and unwelcome influence; and it is only when the healthy flow of mind and body predominates the whole system, mentally and physically, works in harmonious perfection, that we can rejoice in the luxurious buoyancy of unfettered mirth and cheerfulness, and appreciate the inspiration of poetic truth and minstrelsy in those beautiful words, —

"O harmony my heart's delight,
My joy and solace day and night,
Thee have I chosen for my own,
And thou shalt be my love alone."

But, when the human organization is disarranged, and disease, or any harassing defect perplexes the frame, we adopt the language, —

"But when sore griefs oppress the heart,
When health, and joy, and strength depart,
Then joy and hope no more appear,
But life is cheerless, dull and drear!"

In conclusion, and in view of all the facts adduced, what is the inference to be derived from a careful perusal of this narrative? Not that we are deficient in scientific men in any of the departments of Medicine. Not that we are at a loss for men of eminence in the category of diseases incident to our nature, as oculists, aurists, or dentists, or skilled practitioners in surgery and medicine; but we draw the inference, that among the various and lofty talent that characterizes us as a scientific and noble faculty, the present case is a step in advance, and leads to the gratifying reflection that true genius and scientific acumen go hand in hand with benevolence and goodness of heart.

We live in an age of progress; and the accumulating and multiplied diseases that thicken around our pathway, demand that we keep pace with the invader of our domestic bliss, and meet him with a bold and determined front. To such men as Doctor Whitman, who can, as it were, hermetically seal the fabled box of the infuriated and insidious Pandora, we owe more than a bare acknowledgment of professional skill. He who can extract the virus from the sting of approaching death, or drag film from the fast fading orbs of man, is a friend of more than passing worth, and should settle down upon our affections as a philanthropist, whose memory should be embalmed in the evergreens of imperishable recollection.

Doctor Whitman has been established as an Oculist and Aurist upwards of twenty-four years; he is a man of rising and progressive genius, and, unsolicited by any other than the boy who asked alms at his hand, has effected the above miraculous cure, at much expense of time and talent. A discriminating and appreciative community can bear these facts in mind, and when the occasion demands a remedial agency, call to their assistance the simple story of "John, the Blind Beggar Boy of Boston."

Yours, etc., W. W. S.

PIANOS AT GREAT BARGAINS.

Woodward & Brown

Have Removed to the Large and Elegant Warerooms,

690 Washington St., a few doors North of Kneeland St.

The remarkable beauty and purity of sound that modern skill has succeeded in producing, are nowhere better exemplified than in the instruments that crowd our warerooms. All the qualities that give superiority, strength of tone, sonorousness, ability to stand in tune, and ease and flexibility of action, are found there in perfection. These Pianos have long been famous, also, for thorough workmanship, and the durability that characterizes them. After years of service, the full, mellow tone, so delightful and satisfying to the ear, is as perfect as at first, and in every detail care and nicety in labor are evident.

At a recent Worcester County Exhibition they were awarded the highest premium. The same was the case at the last great Exhibition and Fair of the Massachusetts Charitable Association, held in Boston, of which the late Jonas Chickering was the president, and his pianos took the second prize. They will stand in tune longer than any other piano manufactured, as we make a specialy of that point.

Pianos sold on Instalments. Old Pianos taken in Exchange for New. Pianos to let. Pedal Pianos. Tuning and Repairing done in the best manner. DON'T FORGET THE NUMBER.
